We give in another column a second Abolition discourse. It is copied entire, without comment, from the new American Bible, alias the tianity certainly unknown clsewhere. A few will be observed that this effort of the parson is an act of craft and boldness, for which he is remarkable. He is boiling over with rare at the wicked Gentiles (Democrats) of New Hampshire, because they had kicked Jack Hale overboard. The par son states the case in his discourse with a little prudent concealment. His brother Abolitionist, Jack Hale, had been elected to Congress by the Democrats of New Hampshire. Their object was to annex lexas, as they had resolved, as Democrate do North and South, that a State is to come into the Union with or without slavery; but the conscience of Jack became deeply afflicted about the sin of extending slavery. He undertook to restrict slavery in l'exas, and failing in that he votca against annexation. His reason was proclaimedall the country knew it. This the parson shows in this discourse, before he gets through-"annexation a scheme for aggrandizing the slaveholder's power at the expense of the power and interest o the Union." This is quite bold for the paraul here in Kentucky. It is the genuine Abolition siang, and betrays the fullness of the parson's heart. He admires his brother Hule's independence, and pours forth his scorn of the dospotic party in New Hampshire that would not consent to allow an Abolitionist to represent them in the United States Congress.

The parson has a good deal of that sort of craft which can impose on the mass of his readers. He knows they can't read anything but his paper, and that they get along slowly with the hard spelling. They learn from the Journal that Jack Hale was kicked out of his party by Democrats for independent thinking. It would never occur to them that independent thinking was Abolitienism. The scheme for aggrandizing the power would puzzle them a little. They might inquire what in the world it meant. A knowing one has only to inform them that it means something about a Sano Creek sermon, preached by the editor of the Demecrat; this is enough to confound the loggy intellects of his toadies. The more intelligent know all about it. It is only the parson's Abouttions in revealing itself. That is nothing new or

Men and brothren, rejoice with us; we have to anuounce a new apostle in the holy cause of (ncgro) treedem, a new opponent to the slaveocrats of the North. Welcome a new brother into the field, for the harvest is great. Like the great Apostle of the Gentites, a great light has flashed upon brother Jack Hale. Under a pungent conviction of the great sin of extending slavery, he has voted against the annexation of Texas. The Gentiles have rejected him for this manly act of independence. Brother Jack is a thinking creature, and in the exercise of his inherent right to think for himself, he has very wisely come to the conclusion that the annexation of Texas is a scheme to aggrandize the power of slaveholders. He is rejected by the Gentiles, but the stone that the builders r efused will become the head of the corner. If I am will not stay rejected. He will come forth and fight the battle. Our friends and brethren will rally round him, and I trust some of the sinners will repeat of the "sin" of extending slavery, and come up to the help of brother Jack against the mighty. He need not try to joke himself out of it. Thonsands in Kentucky will not consider it a good joke. He is proved to be a scheming Abolitionist-one of the crafty sort, preparing the way to sell out the State to the Abelitionists, and again and again experimenting to see how far he could go. His outcry of Abolitionism against other people, and his effort to convert his broken down lie into a joke, can't save him. He thinks himself very secure against the expose we have made of him, for he is Of course, the editor of the Journal couldn' aware that his Abolition proclivities were known get through a column without a nigger. long ago, and it does not affect his readers. They don't care if he is an Abolitionist; but they ought to be indignant, if there is any virtue in them, at his denial of the charge, after it is proved upon him, and at his hypocritical seal for the South. They ought to blush for him if he can't blush for himself, when they read his dennnciations of other people as Abolitionists. Real Abolitlonists he has a deep affection for. Abelition Sermon-No. 11. DACE HALE, OF NEW HAMPSHIRE

This gentleman is a Locofoco member of Congress, and the only one of the New Hampshire delegation who voted against the annexation of Texas. For thus daring to be independent of party trammels, he has been denounced in the rampant annexationist journals throughout the Union. His name was on the list of candidates for Congress that had been nominated by the Lo eofocos of his State. Another State Convention met a few days ago, at Concord, and struck his TO ALL PRANSIENT ADVENTISEMENTS PAYABLE IN name off, and placed in its stead that of a man who it is supposed will be less restive under the close-fitting collar of the party.

Now, so far as we are concerned, we care but little what member the Locofoco party of Now Hampshire may see fit to send to Congress, but the conduct of the party in that, proves that if man has not the soul of a slave, and is not willing to have his thinking done for him by party lead ers, he is not considered by them fit to represent them. Freedom of opinion the Locofocos think a very good thing in the abstract, but a very gricvous thing in practice. According to the apostle of modern Democracy, a Representative is bound to surrender his opinions to the guidance of th party leaders in his State. There is now a per tect system in the thinking line with the Locofoc party. The Baltimore Convention does the Louisvitle Journal, that teaches American Christinking for the leading politicians in the different States, and some particular leader does the notes by the way may not be out of place. It thinking for the Baltimore Convention. A more completely slavish system was never fastened on the minds of men, and never was a party so willing to be slaves. Mr. Ilale, not being willing to surrender his inherent right to think for himself s thrown overboard. His rejection by the Lose foco Convention is incomparably the highest hono.

> he can win. It is not quite clear, however, that a majority even of the Locofoco party in New Hampshire is opposed to Mr. Hale's course. Thousands of them oted for Polk with a mental protest against Tex-4s. The course of the Convention against Hale will disgust all who think with him that appexation i only a scheme for aggrandizing the slaveholders power at the expense of the honor and interest of the Union. A strong party with rally to his support and if he will permit himself to run as an inde pendent candidate for Congress, he will comman a very large vote. If we do not greatly err in our estimate of the man, he will be a candidate for Congress, notwithstanding a Convention of hi party nominated another man in his stead.

The slavery system of the Locofocos, by which all men are required to think alike, is one which saves the necessity of thinking in Representatives The nearer a man approximates the brute the petter Representative of Locofocoism he becomes He is sent to Congress to vote for party measure and as it is not expected he will think on any subject, the possession of a mind is by no means a ro commendation of him. The editor of the Louisville John scribbles about his "friend Greyg." There is a caain of communication between him and the Abolition party on the other side of the river Gregg is the advocate and slave of the men in Congress who voted for Banks. He was chief o the auti-Nebraska howlers of 1854 5. Grege' party vote for Banks, and Prentice supports Greg -icvamps and publishes his ties. So in Congres the connection is carefully preserved—the know Nothings all voted for Marshall, Marshall voted to Fulter, Fuller for Pennington, and Pennington for upon the Democrats of New Hampshire, because Nothing; third, know-Nothing Abelition; fourth parson's own party, of course; there were then an Abulation howl on the other side of the river The plane Eaglish of this sermon, the parson deed, the Abolitionists of Indiana consider the edare their friends, his enemies their enemies. The numiliating part of the story is, to see Kentucky at the tail of an Abolition train, with an Abolition Yankee for tender !!

The editor of the Democrat does not tell

Well, when its authors tell the world by anothe platform or two what this one means, perhaps the editor of the Journal with find squatter sovereignty or something olse in it. Some of the brethredenounced the platform because it contained the doctrine of equatter sovereignty; some made spor of it as mere verbiage, the meaning of which nobody would find out until after the election; and others again declared it an indorsement of the Independence Hall on Tuesday last. Kansas-Nebraska bill. Upon the whole, they did not mistaken in my estimate of brother Jack, he not know what it meant, but they knew they had gotten rid of the twelfth section, and the now platform did n't mean what it did. The editor of the Journal says the squatters-meaning, we suppose the Territorial Legislature-cannot abolish slavery. The platform does n't say that-not a wend of it. The jugglere didn't dare say one way or the other on such a subject.

Locofocus send to Congress from New Hampshire; but God bless brother Jack Halo, and give him a safe deliverance.

The Louisville Democrat, one of the most ferocice enemies of Americanism, speaks of the seventh section of the American platform as follows: "No form of words could be devised repudia'ing n clearly the doctrine of the Wilmot provise; and it is as distinctly repudiates the doctrine of the Mis distinctly repudiates the doctrine of the Miss, ompr mise" Stick a pin therc.

We desire once more to call the attention of the merous citizens of Louisvido who feel an inter est in the construction of a bridge over the Ohio o the necessity of action, and prompt action a that, if they desire a Charter. As we have before stated, a Charter was drawn up and sent to one of the Senators from the city during the first week of the session. If it has ever been introduced, we have seen no mention of the fact in the reported ceedings of the Legislature. One thing is cerain, it has not passed into a law during the two onths that have already clapsed of the session and unless some prompt action is taken by our cit zens in the matter, no Charter will be enacted. ome of our citizens who are deeply interested in the matter, went to Frankfort to see about it, and came back with their pockets full of assnrances that the Charter would pass-no doubt about itust as toou as some Committee could get a chance o make some report, the thing would be passed in an hour; and yet nothing is done or likely to Gentlemen go up to Frankfort with the draft of a coal mine corporation, or an insurance compa ny Charter in their pockets, and come back in s reck with the same passed into a law. Charters exough have already been passed to make a volme half as large as the Revised Code; and yet, presocth, our members cannot in two months' time get through a bridge Charter that nobody opposes. What may be the reasons which influence our delegation in this matter, we can only conjecture. The Louisville and Portland Railroad Company had a Charter for a bridge granted them last sesion, and perhaps, if no other Charter can be got. hey will sell out, on "reasonable terms," to our tizens after the adjournment. The Charter pas ed at the last session, was rendered uscless by a trick to which we have before alluded; and the Charter now sought will not be with promptness and ducision. There are various influences operating secretly to defeat it. We have hinted at one of them. A wealth ferry moropoly will be rendered worthless by bridge. Of course, the proprietors of that cannot be expected to stand by and not use all exertions defeat the Charter. We do not know that they havo done so, but men generally act according to he dietates of their interest.

One thing is certain, the unaccountable apathy of our Senators and Representatives, in a matter f such deep interest to the city, requires some xplanation more natural than any we have heard

In conclusion, we would advise those interested in the matter to get up a polition to-day and send it up, with a delegation of our citizens, to-morrow o Frankfort. But a week of the session remains and nothing but the most prompt and decided action can secure a Charter. It is all folly to deend upon the assurance given that the bill will ass. It in two months it has not gotten through ac branch of the Legislature, there is but little probability of its passing both in a week.

Twenty years may chapse before the people of this city may again teel as deep an interest in the abject as the events of the past winter have created. There has never before been a time, and may never again, when our citizens would subcribe so liberally to the stock of a Bridge Compaay as they would at this moment.

Mr Ripley, a bill to amend the charter of the city of Louisville; passed. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

SATURDAY, March 1, 1956 RESOLUTION. Mr. Cecil offered the following resolution, whiel vas adopted, viz:

Resolved, That the Committee on the Judiciar, be instructed to report a bill, on Monday next providing for the meeting of the General Assembly on the first Monday of December, 1857. [For the Louisville Democrat] Progress of Know-Nothingism, and its Influence upon the Prosperity and Prospects of Louisville. Messrs. Editors: A poor old dilapidated farm bare of timber, with every improvement rotted down, grown up in briars and broom sedge, of one hundred and sixty-three acres, which never could have been sold for three thousand dellars, has recently been exchanged with a German for four houses and lots in Louisville, which, up to the Know-Nothing riots on the 6th of August, were under rent for two hundred dollars apiece, amount ing, in the aggregate, to eight hundred dellars, but which have been vacant since the aforesaid riots. The unfortunate owner, feeling no security for life or property, and seeing his houses tenantless and yielding no income, while subject to an onerous tax that would shortly consume their value, was glad to find refuge in a thicket of briars and broom sedge, on a poor old worn-out dilapidated place that never could have been rented for one hundred and fifty dollars, and this in exchange for property which, np to the Know-Nothing riots, had been yielding an income of eight hundred dollars.

Truly this is the time for country Know-Nothing to avail themselves of the panie occasioned by th rapine and plunder of their brethren in town, to nrich themselves by exchanging their worthles property in the country, with the panic-stricker ermans, for their property in Louisville; if, per adventure, the people will not always be fools a well as Know-Nothings, and persist in a policy that is destroying their respectability and con merce, and depopulating their city.

Who is in for another speculation? The farm exchanged is in this county. OLDHAM. In this mammon-nworshipping age, it is ere to find a man place his usefulness to the pubic, before his interest. During a late visit to the 'City of Spindles," we were presented by a prossional friend to the celet rated Chemist, Dr. J . Ayer, whose name is now perhaps more familia nan any other, at the bedside of sickness, in this untry. Knowing the unprecedented popularity f his medicines, and the immense sale of them we had expected to find him a millionaire, and roll ing in wealth. But no, we found him in his labo ratory, busy with his laborers, among his crue d care to the compounds, on the virtues of which thousands hang for health. We learn, that not withstanding his vast business, and its prompt ro turns in cash, the Dector is not rich. The reaso assigned is, that the material is costly, and he per sists in making his preparations so expensively, that the net profit is small.
